

You talkin' to me?

We pound our tagline: "Experience = Solutions"... mainly because we can... (ha). Experience, however, comes with time. And in that time, I have found good communication skills to be integral in delivering a solution. And key to that is listening. I mean truly listening; not just a passive effort before it's my turn to blather on in the conversation. Listening is respectful and smart. We at RK RUBBER listen; at every level. And then we deliver.

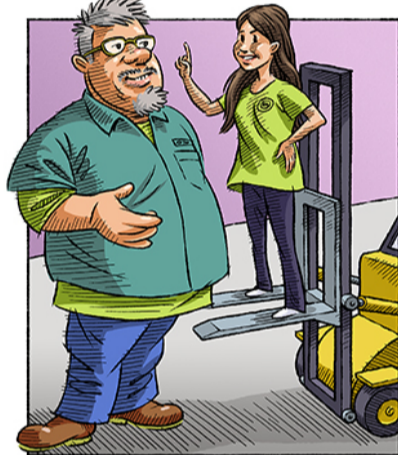

"If we were supposed to talk more than we listen, we would have two tongues and one ear"
